

ALUMNAE NEWS

OF THE NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

VOL. XI. No. 1

GREENSBORO, N. C., APRIL, 1922

PRICE, 25 CENTS A YEAR

A NEW FIELD OF WORK AND SERVICE FOR WOMEN IN NORTH CAROLINA AND WHAT OUR ALUMNAE ARE DOING THEREIN

By E. W. Gudger,
American Museum of Natural History,
New York City.

Government Street, Asheville, N. C., lies at the foot of Battery Park Hill, and on it opposite the postoffice is a row of buildings given over exclusively to the offices of doctors. In the fall of 1919 there appeared on one of the ground floor windows of one of these buildings a modest sign reading, and with the establishment of her laboratory a new field of work and service for women was opened up in North Carolina.

MARY F. SHUFORD
Bacteriologist

Miss Shuford, the daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. G. A. Shuford, of Asheville, is a graduate of Shorter College, Ga., where she took her B. S. degree in 1917. The winter of 1918-19 was spent at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, where she took courses in bacteriology and physiological chemistry to prepare herself to do hospital laboratory work overseas. However, the armistice changed her plans, but she continued her work and received her M. A. degree in June. In September she opened an office in Asheville, as noted above, and has since been most successfully doing laboratory work for the physicians of Asheville, the pioneer woman laboratory technician in North Carolina.

Miss Shuford is, so far as known to me, the first trained woman laboratory technician to do independent work in our state, but not the first worker. In 1918, two of my former students, Misses Margaret George and Elizabeth Rountree, without previous training, entered the laboratory of the United States Public Health Service, at Wilmington, N. C., under the distinguished parasitologist, Dr. C. W. Stiles. Their work, however, was diversified, in part laboratory work on internal human parasites, and in part bibliographical work on the great bibliography of animal parasites which we owe to the energy of Dr. Stiles and his confrère, Dr. Hassall. Miss George left this work in 1920 and Miss Rountree in 1921, to the great distress of Dr. Stiles, as I happen to know personally.

Two others of my students have also been assistants to Dr. Stiles: Miss Eleanor Robertson, at Wilmington, in the summer of 1919; and Miss Kate Brooks, from 1920 to 1921, after the removal of the branch office from Wilmington to Washington. All these students have made such good assistants to Dr. Stiles that he would like very much to have others of their ilk—he has so expressed himself to me.

There is no state supported organization in North Carolina giving such service to the state as the State Board of Health, whose efficient executive officer is Dr. W. S. Rankin. Since 1907 the State Board of Health has maintained at Raleigh a State Laboratory of Hygiene, with Dr. C. A. Shore as Director. Dr. Shore has built up one of the most efficient and service-giving laboratories of its kind in the United States. To this laboratory went Miss Mamie Spears immediately after taking her B. S. degree in 1920 and there she is today, happy in her work because she is giving valuable service to our state. The State Laboratory of Hygiene serves in many ways: it makes tests for tuberculosis, rabies, typhoid, etc.; manufactures antitoxins and vaccines; gives anti-rabic treatment; and lastly, but not least, looks after the purity of the public water supplies of the state. Miss Spears' work lies in this last section of the laboratory's activities, and the purity and wholesomeness of the water which our present students at the College drink is kept so by the constant watchfulness of Miss Mamie Spears, of the class of 1920.

While Miss Shuford is the first woman to open her own laboratory in North Carolina, to aid in diagnosis of disease, hers is not the first laboratory. Dr. Harvey P. Barret, in 1911, opened an office in Charlotte to do laboratory work for the medical profession. In addition he was city bacteriologist from 1913 to 1920, when he gave this work up to devote all his time to the other.

In May, 1919, Dr. Barret wrote me that he needed one or more assistants and wanted to know if any of my students could qualify. I answered that I had two, who lived in Charlotte, who were not trained in his work, but who had had pretty stiff courses in Biology which they knew, and who had developed something of a real scientific spirit, and lastly, who could be taught. The upshot of this correspondence was that some weeks later Miss Nancy Yarbrough took her B. S. degree and entered Dr. Barret's laboratory, taking with her Miss Isabel Ardrey.

Miss Yarbrough is with Dr. Barret today and is his most trusted assistant. She brought to her work a trained mind and a large enthusiasm and has been extraordinarily successful. So much so that at the end of six months Dr. Barret sent her to New York for certain special courses in the laboratories of the Postgraduate Hospital and Medical School. This past January she again came to New York to learn certain technical methods in a private laboratory. Finding the conditions unfavorable, she again went to the Postgraduate, but this time without credentials or previous application. However, the good work she had done two years previously was remembered to her credit and she was made welcome, a special course was arranged for her, and the instructors showed her many courtesies.

Miss Yarbrough is the first of our students, who, so far as I know, has ever done any original work. She is joint author with Dr. Barret of a paper, "A method for the cultivation of Balantidium coli", published in the American Journal of Tropical Medicine, for May, 1921. Balantidium is a rare protozoan intestinal parasite, which, I believe, has never been grown before on artificial media where it could be studied at will. She has independently devised a new method in laboratory work and has published it in the Journal of Laboratory and Clinical Medicine for December, 1921, under the title, "Blood Counts with Oxalated Blood".

Miss Isabel Ardrey entered Dr. Barret's laboratory at the same time with Miss Yarbrough (June, 1919), but returned to the college in September. She took her B. S. degree in June, 1920, and at once went back to her work in Charlotte. However, it came about that the State Department of Agriculture at Raleigh wanted a trained bacteriologist to take charge of its laboratory for the culture and distribution to the farmers of the state of legume or nitrogen-secreting bacteria. Finding Miss Ardrey to be that person, she was offered an increase of salary to come to Raleigh, and was put in charge of this technical work. Her work was extraordinarily successful. Not only did she rear larger and better cultures than any technician of the department had ever done before, but she made the laboratory self-supporting by its sale of nitrogen bacteria at prices, if anything, but barely above the cost of production. In November, 1921, Miss Ardrey again returned to Charlotte, this time to become laboratory technician and clinical clerk to the Presbyterian Hospital, both of which positions she is filling most efficiently today.

Dr. Barret was so pleased with the work of our students that in June, 1921, he took into his laboratory Miss Nannie Smith, of the class of 1921. Miss Smith went to Charlotte with better training in technical methods than either of her predecessors, thanks to the teaching and training of Prof. Givler and Miss Campbell. Her chief writes that he finds her a capital assistant and Miss Yarbrough declares that she is going to make a better laboratory worker than either of her confreres from our College.

From what has been said, it will be plain to my readers that the physicians of Charlotte are most efficiently served from the standpoint of laboratory aids to diagnosis, and their patronage of Dr. Barret's laboratory shows how thoroughly scientific is their practice of medicine. There is no city in our state, so far as I know, that stands in Charlotte's class, and credit is to no small degree due to the foresight, the skill and the scientific training of Dr. Harvey P. Barret and his assistants, our students, who are fortunate to work with and be trained by so able a man.

Another of our students is here in New York engaged in like work. Miss Margaret Lawrence (also of the class of 1920) came to New York in June of that year and was the next day given a position for the summer session as laboratory assistant in the chemical laboratory of Teachers' College, Columbia University. In September, through a chain of circumstances set in motion by Miss Mary F. Seymour, she was given a temporary position in the Bio-Chemical Laboratory of the Equitable Life Assurance Company, of this city. Having given me as a reference, I was communicated with, but her good work much more than my letter made that position a permanent one and she is there today learning something new every day, and like her schoolmates at Charlotte, thoroughly happy.

And like them, Miss Lawrence is very fortunate in her chief, Dr. A. S. Wolf. I have had the pleasure of meeting him and I find him to be an exceedingly able man, keen mentally and abreast of the very latest developments in his branch of science. Early recognizing unusual ability in Miss Lawrence, he has set out to develop that ability and to teach her the technique of all the most valuable lines of work in aid to medical practice. Miss Lawrence has made great progress in this work, as evidenced by the following incident: Dr. Wolf has a private laboratory at 95th Street, near Broadway, where he does work for a selected clientele of physicians, and last summer when he went away on his vacation he left this laboratory in charge of Miss Lawrence.

During the fall of 1921 Miss Lawrence took a course in bacteriology two nights each week at the College of the City of New York. When the returns were in it was found that she stood at the head of her class, as she used to do at our College. Being unable to get a like course at the City College this spring, she is taking a seminar course in blood chemistry at the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University. Here she is learning not merely facts in physiological chemistry, but much more, is in an atmosphere of scientific research and is learning the methods and getting the spirit of that great kind of work. She will be given credit for this work toward a future degree at Columbia University.

After getting all the training she can here, Miss Lawrence hopes to return to North Carolina and to open a laboratory of her own similar to Miss Shuford's in Asheville.

The above narrative will, I think, make clear to the readers of the Alumnae News what our graduates have done and are doing, as pioneers in a new field of work and service for our people in North Carolina. They have won success, not because they have been especially prepared for such work, but because the department of Biology at the College, despite imperfect equipment, large numbers of students and an insufficient teaching force, has taught these students the pleasure of work, the joy of learning; in short, has given them something of the scientific spirit.

But, thanks to the greatly enlarged appropriations, the situation at the College is vastly bettered now, laboratories are being enlarged and better equipped and the teaching force has been added to. My assistants and I worked under many handicaps, but we have reason to be proud of our students, for they have done us much credit. How much more ought this to be true in the future, under the new conditions.

The College is very fortunate in having in my successor, Prof. J. P. Givler, a man particularly fitted, both by training and experience, to prepare our students for such work as that which those named above have done in spite of their lack of training. His study of bacteriology and of other technical laboratory subjects in aid to medical diagnosis, and his experience as a laboratory technician at army hospitals during the war, have admirably prepared him to do the work for which I had no training whatever. He is offering courses in bacteriology and blood-work to give our students the necessary training for taking up the work referred to in this article. And for him and his new courses I bespeak the most cordial support of my former students among the alumnae.

And now a word as to the prospects for employment for our students who may take this training. I shall not here go into the matter of the culture derived from such work, of its power to develop the mind, of its practical value to the individual in her own life, but will try to answer the query, "Will there be such a new field open to women?" The answer is that it is already open. Witness the work in Charlotte, in Asheville and in Raleigh. The position left vacant at Raleigh by Miss Ardrey had not been filled on last accounts. Recently there was a call for a technician at the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium. Such positions are always open in the scientific bureaus under the government in Washington. And so it goes. Medical practice in North Carolina is becoming every year more scientific and the time is almost at hand when every hospital of any size and standing will have its laboratory aide. Again it seems to me that the time is close at hand when every town of any size in our state will offer remunerative work to any thoroughly trained young woman who will establish therein a laboratory where physicians can have tests made as aids in diagnosis which they personally have not the time to make.

Again, another project finding much favor is the association of a number of medical men into a clinical unit, composed, say of a physician, a surgeon, a dentist, an eye, ear, and throat specialist, a laboratory technician, and several nurses. One of my former students at Little Rock, Arkansas, a prominent physician there, was in New York a year ago hunting for such a technician at a salary of $3500.

The great prosperity of our state during and since the war will, when the present situation clears away, lend itself to a more scientific medical practice in the state. Increase in wealth and the trend of the time will enable our people to call for and to pay for more scientific treatment when they are sick, and as aides thereto our trained students will in the future be able to serve.

ALUMNAE DAY

Saturday, June 3rd, will be Alumnae Day, at the College. Classes of 1894, 1898, 1902, 1906, 1910, 1914 and 1918 will hold reunions at this time. Plan to be present at your class meeting.

CLASS NOTES

1893

Maudie Broadway Goodwin, Secretary, Morganton, N. C.

Mrs. J. C. Matthews, who was Mattie Lou Bolton, writes from Spring Hope, that she is still living and on her job of home-making. She has had three children, one daughter, who is in the seventh grade, alone surviving. She has taught six sessions of school.

Bertha M. Lee lives at her home in Mocksville, and is very busy doing her bit as a home maker, and in the life of the community. She is president of the woman's missionary society, member of the board of trustees of the graded school, member of the program committee of the parent-teachers' association, etc.

Minnie Hampton Eliason, of Statesville, writes: "Now have you heard, dear friends, that I went back to the College after twenty years and got lost? That isn't surprising, is it? Certainly not when one considers how the place has grown. Personally, I am doing a little history work as a side issue. My twenty-year-old daughter is working hard on English; the second one thinks mathematics is a fine game; the third one thinks all life is the same sort of a game, and so we move along. This is just to wish peace and prosperity to you all."

Mrs. Geo. B. Smith, of Capron, Va., who was Lizzie Lee Williams, has been a home maker ever since she left college. One daughter, Leah, will finish high school in one more year. Daphne, her oldest daughter, graduated at Woman's College, Lynchburg, and her boys have gone to Chapel Hill.

Mrs. T. J. Cheek, of 54 Vee St., N. W., Washington, D. C., who was Zella McCulloch, reports that she has taught twenty-one years and has been in the Treasury Department at Washington since July, 1918. Her two daughters, twenty-two and nineteen, are both married, and her son, aged twelve, is in the seventh grade high school.

Annie M. Page, whose address is 2343 Walton Way, Augusta, Ga., is teaching French in the Girls' High School there. After leaving College she studied French in Europe, and has taught at Greensboro College, Peace Institute, and at Winthrop College.

Mrs. E. McK. Goodwin, who was Maude F. Broadway, lives in Morganton, where Mr. Goodwin is President of the Deaf and Dumb School. Her life has been a very busy one, duties being heavy in home, church and community. At present her offices in various societies and clubs number eight, the latest and heaviest being that of president of the Morganton Library Association. Her oldest daughter, Louise, graduated at Columbia University last year, and will return there next fall. Miriam and Maude are at the College now and the youngest daughter, Edith, will probably enter the College this fall.

1894

Gertrude Bagby Creasy, Secretary, Wilmington, N. C.

Mary K. Applewhite (Mrs. J. Y. Killian) lives in Newton, N. C.

Rachel Brown (Mrs. R. P. Clarke) lives in Washington, D. C., at 1509 R. I. Ave., N. W.

Gertrude Bagby Creasy lives in Wilmington and has two children who graduate from school and college this year—Helen Dunn from our College, and William Merlin from high school. Her son is now taking the physical examination at Fort McPherson for entrance to West Point.

Mary Lewis Harris is at home teaching in Concord this year.

Annie Lee Rose (Mrs. V. O. Parker) lives in Raleigh, N. C.

Mary C. Wiley has recently been confined to her home on account of illness, but is recovering rapidly. She lives and teaches in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Susan Israel (Mrs. Harry Wolfe) lives on a fifty-three acre truck farm. She writes that she is so busy caring for a large farm house, feeding the help, and helping with the literary work of the Grange that she often loses track of events. During the past year there are three new grandchildren in their family. She says that she does not yet feel "grandmotherly", but is proud of the prestige of twins in the family. She sends personal greetings to each member of 1893, and would like to hold an experience meeting with 1894.

1896

*Lee Reid Maxwell, Secretary,
Rouceverte, W. Va.*

Mary E. Lazenby, of 5022 Nebraska Ave., Washington, D. C., taught public and private schools in North Carolina for four years. She was then in the government service at Washington for eight years, after which she taught in the American girls' school at Santiago, Chile. Returning to Washington, she was engaged in the secretarial work for some time, and now has an office for research and translations. She also does considerable editorial work.

Lee Reid Maxwell (Mrs. J. H. Maxwell) is assistant principal in the Greenbrier High School, Rouceverte, W. Va. Her son attends Davidson College and her two daughters are preparing to enter the North Carolina College.

Linville, N. C., Jan. 30, 1922.

To the class of '96—Greetings:

In response to your request, I am sending you a short sketch of my past, present and hope for the future.

From '96-'99, I taught in the public schools of this state, excepting a short summer school in South Carolina.

Since my marriage in '99, I have become the mother of seven children, namely: Zoe, Katherine, Andrew, Philip, Levie, Lucile and Miram, ages ranging from 8 to 21. I have one grandson, 1 year old.

I have taught some, during this time. I have been a teacher and organist in Sunday school and church almost all the time. I have led and assisted in entertainments in my community.

At the present, I am postmistress here and have been for eight years. I am teacher in Sunday school and organist for both Sunday school and church.

I hope to educate my children so they may lead useful lives, and shall always strive for the betterment of mankind.

Very sincerely,

EMILY MANETTA ASBURY YODER.

Mrs. R. M. Davis (nee Emma Harris) still resides at Tarboro, where she has lived ever since married. She has three children, two boys and a daughter. Her oldest son, Robert Davis, graduated at the University of North Carolina last June. Her daughter, Virginia, entered the North Carolina College for Women, last September. William Davis, age nine years, is in school at Tarboro. Mrs. Davis is librarian of the Edgecombe Public Library.

Sallie Joyner Davis, who resides in Greenville, N. C., has been teaching ever since graduation, "with delightful breaks, every few years, for study and travel". Just now she is very much interested in her camp for girls which she hopes to open this summer.

Hattie Garvin Tate is spending the winter in Fellsmere, Florida. She and Mr. Tate motored down. She reports having taught in the Oxford Orphanage, in Newton, Albemarle and High Point previous to her marriage, High Point having been her permanent home since 1906.

Minnie Pitman Hartsell is grammar grade supervisor of the Greensboro City Schools, white and colored. She has a daughter graduating from high school this spring who will enter the College next fall.

1898

*Sadie Hanes Connor, Secretary,
Chapel Hill, N. C.*

Margaret McCall, president of '98, now Mrs. William D. Carmichael, of Durham, has four sons, three of whom are students at the University of North Carolina. William, the oldest, is a graduate student in the School of Commerce; Cartwright is a junior; and Martin is a freshman. All three are prominent in University life. William and Cartwright have made notable records as basketball players, both having captained the University teams. Cartwright was captain and William a star member of the team which recently won the southern championship. The officials of the tourney selected Cartwright as a member of the all-southern team. In his freshman year, William volunteered for aviation service and withdrew from college to go into training at Mineola. At the close of the war, he returned to the University, won the Preston Cup in Journalism, was editor of the Tar Baby, and chief ball manager at commencement of 1920. Martin, the third son, seems to inherit his father's business ability, beginning his University career as manager of the Tar Baby Five, one of the college orchestras. Bobby, the youngest of the Carmichael quartette, will come to the University later.

Clee Winstead has made an enviable record as a teacher in the Wilson public schools. Since 1917 she has been principal of the most recently organized of Wilson's excellent elementary schools, which quite appropriately bears the name of the "Winstead Elementary School". Though the school was really named for her in recognition of her fine service to elementary education, she insists upon attributing the honor to her father who rendered yeoman's service to the cause of public education as a member of the first board of trustees of the Wilson graded school in 1881.

Oelad Barnett lives in Gastonia, where her husband, Joe S. Wray (University of of North Carolina, '98) is superintendent of the city schools. Her youngest child entered school this year. The oldest, Carolyn, is already, at eleven, making her plans for attending the North Carolina State College for Women.

1900

*Avila Lindsay Lowe, Secretary,
Lexington, N. C.*

Clara Gillon is bookkeeper with the Bell and Harris Furniture Company, of Concord, N. C. She taught several years after leaving the Normal and then took a stenographic course. She lives with her father and mother and an aunt.

Mrs. Maurice Clifton (nee Elizabeth Howell) taught for three years after graduation in Hertford and Tarboro. She has five children, the eldest, a boy, who expects to enter the University in the fall. She lives in Louisburg, N. C.

Mrs. W. B. Upshur, who was Carrie Martin, lives in Sumter, South Carolina. She writes that she has six children, the eldest boy being at a military school in Virginia, and the youngest just three years old.

Mrs. W. B. Brown (Ruth Harper) lives in Monroe, N. C. Ruth, the eldest of her three daughters, is a freshman at the College this year. Mrs. Brown has been an invalid for the last five years.

Miriam McFadyen is "helping teacher" at the East Carolina Teachers' Training School, at Greenville, N. C. She visits each graduate of the school, observing her teaching, and helping her wherever possible. She visits eighty-seven graduates this year in this state.

Eleanor Watson has been teaching school ever since graduation. At present she is principal of the Salisbury High School and is just now enjoying a leave of absence, and resting.

Sue Nash is teaching a few classes in the high school and is supervising the grammar grades in Salisbury, N. C.

Mrs. C. P. Fox, who was Etta Staley, lives in Staley, N. C. She writes: "True to class prophecy, I look after poultry, set eggs for hatching, etc., belong to the Ladies' Aid, Woman's Missionary Society, and teach in Sunday school."

Alice Daniel lives at Stovall, N. C. She writes that she is "living, laughing, laboring, loving, learning and lashing" near Oxford, N. C., in a village high school, teaching English, Latin, French and Algebra.

Mrs. John T. Lowe, who was Avila Lindsay, lives in Lexington, N. C. She has three children, Thompson, Mary and William, and is very busy with home and community duties.

Myrtle Hunt Mattocks lives with her family in Lenoir, N. C. She is teaching private kindergarten, and has four children. Her eldest son is in college at G. M. C.

1907

*Mary Robinson, Secretary,
Wadesboro, N. C.*

Blanche Austin is now Mrs. O. J. Thies. She lives in Meyers Park, Charlotte, N. C. Agnes Blake is in Willow Creek, Montana. Elizabeth Howell is a Red Cross nurse at New Roads, La.

(Continued on Page 5)

ALUMNAE NEWS

Published quarterly by the Alumnae and Former Students Association of the North Carolina College for Women, at Greensboro, N. C.

Ethel C. Bollinger { Editors
Clara Booth Byrd {

Subscription price, 25 cents a year

All business communications should be addressed to Ruth Hampton Shuping, Business Manager, Greensboro, N. C.

Admitted as second-class matter at the postoffice in Greensboro, N. C., June 29th, 1912

GREENSBORO, N. C., APRIL, 1922

ALUMNAE AND FORMER STUDENTS ASSOCIATION (Inc.)

Maude Bunn Battle President
Nettie Dixon Vice-President
Ethel C. Bollinger Secretary-Treasurer
Board of Trustees—Annie Beam, Leah Boddie, Lucy Crisp, Eleanor Watson, Mrs. Julius Cone, Jane Summrell, Lizzie McIver Weatherston, Mary Robinson, Mamie Banner Gant.

ALUMNAE CONFERENCE

During the first week in March a call was sent out from the College for a meeting of representative alumnae from all over the state, to draw up plans for the formation of an Alumnae Council.

Three alumnae were invited from each congressional district, with three representatives from the faculty, board of directors of the College, and the entire board of trustees of the Association.

The conference convened at eight o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. hut on Friday evening, March 10th, with eighteen in attendance, the following districts being represented: second, third, fifth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth.

After supper had been served the delegates, the meeting was called to order, and Miss Coit, who was acting chairman of the committee to formulate plans for the Alumnae Council, stated the object of the conference. She also explained the function of the Alumnae Council as it had been discussed by her committee. The plan was that the council should meet at the College frequently and observe the work of the College; that it should promote the aims of the College and Alumnae Association, and that it should be the force which would strengthen the ties between the alumnae and their College. She then asked for suggestions from all present as to the organization and personnel of the Council.

Dr. Foust then addressed the conference, talking of the larger interests of the College and the Alumnae Association at this time. He also gave an account of the reorganization of the College according to a standard college. He expressed the hope that the plans for the Alumnae Council would mature successfully, and approved the action of the alumnae in this matter.

Mr. W. C. Jackson, of the College faculty, then talked on the relationship which the faculty bears to the alumnae and the responsibility which each bears to the other. He showed how the alumnae could be very helpful to the College through furnishing the view point of the state at large.

Miss Gertrude Mendenhall then gave to the conference a short but inspiring talk on

"What does Loyalty of Alumnae for their College Involve?" Extracts are here given:

"What does loyalty to one's college involve? I would say first that it involves persistent and intelligent interest in all that goes on here. It must mean that steadily and all through the years you keep yourselves informed of all that goes on at the College—of its personnel, its equipment, of the work of the various departments, of the product that is being turned out. It means that you must study from the outside the demands which should be met, and that you should acquaint yourselves sufficiently with the inside work to know whether these demands are being met.

"Loyalty to your College means that if you hear of things to her disadvantage, you investigate them, and take such reports to the proper authorities either for confirmation or contradiction.

"A loyal body of alumnae should be on continual guard to protect and defend against ignorant and carping criticism. Through loyal alumnae, the administration should be kept in touch with the outside world—and as loyal alumnae, you should be in a position to interpret intelligently the objects and aims of the administration. * * Loyalty means confidence in the present, hope for and faith in the future of our College; and loyalty means, most of all, I think, service fully and freely given—and it means love, deep and abiding."

Dr. Virginia Ragsdale, of the faculty, gave some valuable suggestions as to the organization of the Council, which she had obtained from different college bulletins. These were found to be very helpful.

Informal discussion was then entered into by all representatives present, and many valuable suggestions given, all of which were taken note of by the acting secretary, for reference at the business session Saturday morning.

The session then adjourned to meet again Saturday morning at nine o'clock in the Cornelian Society Hall.

MORNING SESSION

There was much discussion of the personnel of the Alumnae Council, of the time of meeting, of the expenses, and of the powers, and after full discussion, the consensus of opinion seemed to be that a committee should take the suggestions and crystallize them into a plan for an Alumnae Council, which plan would be voted on at the commencement meeting of the Association. Miss Coit, acting chairman, named the following committee: Mary Baldwin Mitchell, chairman, Clara Byrd and Ruth Gunter, who met right after the conference adjourned and drew up recommendations as follows:

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR FORMATION OF ALUMNAE COUNCIL

I. Object: To study the work of the College and promote its aims; to preserve and strengthen the ties between the alumnae and their alma mater; to enliven and further the undertakings of the Alumnae Association.

II. Membership: The Board of Trustees of the Alumnae Association; three representatives from the Alumnae Association for each congressional district in the state; three representatives from the Board of Directors of the College; the President of the College ex officio; three members of the College faculty who are not alumnae; two members at large from the graduating class of the current year.

III. Election, Manner: a. The Board of Trustees of the Alumnae Association, which is elected by the Association, shall be vested with power to elect or appoint:

1. The thirty district representatives.
2. The three members from the Board of Directors of the College.
3. The three members of the College faculty.
4. The two members at large from the current graduating class.

(b) Time: This election shall take place at the commencement meeting of the incoming board of trustees of the Alumnae Association.

IV. Term of office: 1. The Board of Trustees of the Alumnae Association shall serve on the Council during their term of office.

2. The district members shall serve three years, ten members being elected or appointed at each commencement meeting.

3. The three members from the College Board of Directors shall serve for one year.

4. The president of the College shall serve continuously.

5. The three representatives from the faculty of the College shall serve for one year.

6. The two representatives from the graduating class of the current year shall serve for one year.

V. Officers: The president and recording secretary and treasurer of the Alumnae Association shall serve in the same capacity in the Council.

VI. Expenses: The incidental expenses of the Council shall, for the present time, be met by the individual members or by their local chapters.

VII. Time of Meeting: The Council shall meet semi-annually, the fall meeting to be held at the College and the spring meeting at some point in the state, upon the invitation of a local chapter, where practical.

The General Secretary, Ethel Bollinger, told those present of the plans for Alumnae Home Week Campaign, which will be held during the last week in March, and asked for their help in the different districts. The following suggestions were made:

1. That each district leader be sent map of her district, with county quotas on it, and stars to represent organized counties.

2. That each district leader be furnished county list of leaders.

3. That names of those who owe notes be furnished district leaders.

4. That the Alumnae Council subscribe to the weekly College paper, the Carolinian, and in this way keep College news before their county papers.

After a full discussion of the Alumnae Home Week Campaign, the conference adjourned to make a tour of inspection of the College grounds and plant, after which they had lunch together in the College dining hall.

ETHEL C. BOLLINGER,
Recording Secretary.

CLASS NOTES

(Continued from Page 3)

Marjorie Kennedy (Mrs. E. E. White) is living in Greensboro now.

Eulah Blue has taught in Carthage ever since graduation and is now principal of the high school.

Margaret Call Thompson lives in North Wilkesboro. She has two children, a daughter of seven and a son of three.

Clara Case Ingram lives in High Point and has five children.

Rosa Lee Dixon lives at her home in Hickory, and substitutes in the city schools sometimes. She hopes to return to the teaching profession regularly within the next few years.

Mary Reid Idol lives in High Point. She has three children, one boy and two girls.

May Lovelace Tomlinson also lives in High Point. She has an interesting family of three children.

Iola White Thompson lives in Greensboro, N. C. She has two children, a boy and girl.

Eleanor Elliott Carroll lives at Chapel Hill, where her husband, Mr. Dudley D. Carroll, is professor of Economics at the University of North Carolina. She has one son, Dudley D., Jr.

May Withers Pipkin lives at Lillington, N. C. She taught twelve years before her marriage. She has two little girls.

Winnie Harper is working at home in the office of her brother who is a doctor in Snow Hill, N. C.

Mabel Howell Reynolds lives in Raleigh, N. C. She has one boy, aged two and a half.

Nell Armfield is doing purely executive work, as principal of the South School in Statesville.

Mattie Kate Shaw teaches in the same school with Eulah Blue, in Carthage.

Vaughan White Holman lives in Rich Square. She has four children, two of whom are still babies.

1909

Mary Baldwin Mitchell, Secretary,
Gastonia, N. C.

Mrs. Wm. E. Reardon, who was Bessie Cagle, lives in Manning, S. C.

Nettie Dixon is now Mrs. Major T. Smith, of Reidsville, N. C.

Linda Shuford McIntosh has recently moved to Startown, N. C.

Claude Umstead has returned from the west and is teaching again at Badin, N. C.

1910

Jane Summerell, Secretary,
Greensboro, N. C.

Margaret Cooper (Mrs. J. C. Cook) of Evenwood, W. Va., died last October.

Mellie Cotchett is secretary to the Commander of the Mare Island Navy Yard at Vallejo, California. Her box number is 748.

Mamie Griffin is Mrs. Frank Scarborough, of Monticello, Fla.

Emilie S. Hyman, Rocky Mount, N. C., is opening the East Carolina Commercial School at Rocky Mount. The business men there are helping her boost it.

Annette Munds, who is now Mrs. Walter M. Kenley, lives at Rock Hall, Md., on a farm, "Hinchingham".

1911

Myrtle Johnson Hassell, Secretary,
Raper, N. C.

Harriett Wardlaw's address is Apartment 712, the Burlington, Washington, D. C.

After teaching a number of years Margaret Faison is at home for the winter at Clinton, N. C.

Antoinette Black, Mrs. M. O. Alexander, is living at Graham, Va., where her husband is pastor of the Baptist Church. She found the navy life very pleasant and interesting, but is glad to be settled on account of her two children, Phillis, aged five, and Beth, twenty-two months.

Mae Vickery (Mrs. Jarvis Fancette) is at McLeansville, N. C., farming. She writes that she raises pigs, chickens, corn, and tobacco, and has four children. Recently her health has improved greatly.

Rose Batterham, who is Mrs. W. G. Housekeeper, lives in New York City. Her household duties and her small son keep her very busy, but she still finds time to write stories, and what is better, to sell them. She contributes to the Youth's Companion.

Adelaide Morrow is teaching French and English in the high school at Hamlet. She enjoys working in the parent-teachers' association and the woman's club.

Pearl Holloway was married in June, 1921, to Mr. R. E. Cooley, a cotton planter of Scotland County. They live at Wagram, N. C.

Katherine Norfleet has been working in the Library of Congress at Washington, D. C., for the past three years.

Bessie Bennett, after teaching second grade for several years, is now supervisor of the Palmer system of writing in Reidsville, N. C.

Lena Green (Mrs. A. A. Armstrong) is living in Gastonia, where her husband is manager of the Hotel Armington.

Minnie Littman, after a course in journalism at Columbia University, is reporting and doing the Sunday Woman's Page for the New Bedford (Mass.) Evening Standard.

Leta Barry (Mrs. Thad Brown) is at home in Swan Quarter, N. C. She says the care of her three small children leaves her very little time for anything else.

Catherine Ervin, who has been teaching in a Presbyterian Mission near Morganton, has gone to Philadelphia, where she will enter the Presbyterian Hospital for training.

Bertha Daniels (Mrs. Ed Cloyd) lives in Raleigh opposite A. and E. College. Her husband is Dean of Students and Alumnae Secretary and Treasurer.

Marea Jordan (Mrs. M. E. Younts) is in Graham, where her husband is superintendent of the Graham public schools.

After taking a library course at Pratt, two years ago, Georgia Faison entered the cataloging department in the Yale University Library. In December she went to Lynchburg, where she took charge of the Randolph-Macon College Library.

Olivia Burbage (Mrs. J. R. Campbell) is active in public service in Plymouth. She is president of the book club and parent-teachers' association.

Since the death of her husband last October, Catherine Jones (Mrs. J. W.

Pierce) with her two boys, aged five and three, is living in Durham. She teaches first grade in the Edgemont school.

Myrtle Johnson (Mrs. L. E. Hassell) lives on a farm near Raper, N. C. She devotes her energy to raising chickens, turkeys and garden truck, not forgetting little seven-year-old Louis Edgar, Jr.

Annie Goodloe Brown is doing Red Cross work among the disabled soldiers at Oteen Hospital, near Biltmore, N. C.

Natalie Nunn is still pastor's assistant of the Christian Church at Kinston.

Those who knew Rose and Lily Batterham when they were in the College will recall that they were inseparable. And it is almost so now, for Lily (Mrs. Kenneth Burke) lives very near Rose in the Greenwich Village section of New York City. Her husband is an author, whose essays largely appear in the Dial.

1912

Dora Coates, Secretary,
Reidsville, N. C.

Ivor Aycock is teaching in Fremont, N. C.

Margaret Berry is practicing law in Charlotte. She is also writing insurance with the New England Mutual, specializing in women.

Leah Boddie teaches in the junior high school in Durham, N. C.

Jamie Bryan is teaching third grade in the Asheville system. She and Dora Coates taught in the model school at the East Carolina Training School during the summer session.

Hattie Burch is living at home in Roxboro, keeping house for her brother. Her garden, church and club work, and duties as a member of the city council, keep her very busy.

Norma Burwell is doing work in designing in Washington, D. C.

Claudia Cashwell (Mrs. Benj. S. Guion) is living in Mebane, N. C.

Annie Moore Cherry is supervisor of rural white schools in Halifax County.

Dora Coates has been teaching ever since her graduation in Reidsville, N. C.

Margaret Cameron Cobb is at Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Madge Coble is teaching in Hamlet, N. C.

Maggie Coble, who was a critic teacher at Eastern Carolina Training School last year, is supervisor of schools in Hargett County this year.

Annie Cummings is living at 178 S. Main St., Harrisonburg, Va.

Clyde Fields and Ethel McNairy are teaching in Statesville and have been ever since their graduation.

Grace Eaton is in the insurance business in Washington City and is very successful.

Fay Davenport is county welfare officer for Gaston County.

Lucile Elliott is spending the winter with Mrs. Dudley Carroll at Chapel Hill, N. C. She is doing secretarial work while there.

Whittier Hall, Teachers College, Columbia University, houses 500 students under one roof and is probably the largest college woman's dormitory in the world, and also probably the best officered and handled. To properly care for and guide this regiment of girls there is a staff of twelve people divided into departments as follows: House or dormitory, welfare or social, dining room and kitchen, and office or business.. To this last division belongs Mary K. Brown, secretary to the hall.

Nettie Fleming (Mrs. L. B. Smith) lives in Wilmington, N. C.

Reba Foust (Mrs. A. B. Bynum) has a lovely family and home in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Louise Gill is teaching in Rockingham this winter.

Mary Green is secretary to the Crim-Cantrell Furniture Co., of Winston-Salem, N. C.

Myrtle Green received her master's degree from the University of North Carolina several years ago, and is teaching at Stovall, N. C.

Lucy Hamilton is Mrs. G. C. Little, of Newton, N. C.

Rebecca Herring is a commercial secretary with the Y. W. C. A., at Richmond, Va.

Hazel Hunt is Mrs. J. Andrew Smith, of Goldsboro, N. C.

Ethel Ivey recently married Mr. J. G. Parks, of Seven Springs, N. C.

Mabel Jetton is teaching in Shelby, N. C.

Margaret Johnson married, a missionary, Mr. H. J. Evans, and lives in Unsan, Kiuko, Chosen.

Ara Jordan is Mrs. Claude S. Tate, of Littleton, N. C.

Bessie Jordan teaches in the high school at Hendersonville.

Amy Joseph is Mrs. Herndon Tuttle, of Goldsboro, N. C.

Lucy Landon is Mrs. Everett Lindsay, of Winston-Salem, N. C.

Louise Lucas teaches at White Oak, N. C.

Lucile Middleton is Mrs. W. R. Ivey, of Lenoir, N. C.

Alice Tye Morrison married a minister, Rev. E. L. Malone, and lives in Columbus, Miss.

Kate Lea Owen teaches in Rockingham, N. C.

Mary Van Poole recently married Mr. O. H. Phillips, of Albemarle, N. C.

Lucy Robertson is Mrs. Ben Aycock and lives at Fremont, N. C.

Ethel Skinner is Mrs. H. H. Phillips, of Tarboro, N. C.

Mary Slaughter teaches at her home in Goldsboro, N. C.

Katie Smith teaches in the Gastonia schools.

Thelma Smith lives in Wilmington, N. C.

Pattie Spruill is doing stenographic work at Washington, N. C.

Kate Styron is Mrs. F. H. McCullough and lives at 938 Turnpike, Beam, Pa.

Sara Tulbert is Mrs. Henry Reynolds, of North Wilkesboro, N. C.

Catherine Vernon is with her sister, Anna Vernon Pritchett, in Hendersonville, Tenn.

Alice Whitson is a chemist with the United States Laboratory at Washington, D. C. She lives at 3 West Lenox St., Chevy Chase, Md.

1913

*Verta Idol Coe, Secretary,
High Point, N. C.*

Maude Beatty, who is now Mrs. C. A. Bowen, is teaching in the high school in Greenville, N. C.

Hazel Black (Mrs. Norman Farrior) is living in Mexico City, Mexico.

Ethel Condo Bollinger is general secretary of the Alumnae and Former Students Association, with headquarters at the College.

Laura Brogden Graveley is living in Goldsboro. She is doing substitute work in a school about eight miles out of town, and drives out every morning.

Clara Byrd is still assistant treasurer at the College.

Laclie Cavanaugh (Mrs. B. B. Cavanaugh) is teaching in the Sunset Park School in Wilmington, where she lives.

Elizabeth Craig is stenographer with the General Education Board in New York City.

Louise Crawford is secretary of the Plywood Corporation at Goldsboro, her home.

Lillian Crisp is supervisor of the Wayne County Rural Schools, with her office in Goldsboro.

Martha Faison, after taking her master's degree at Columbia, is teaching English in a girls' school in New York. Her present address is 519 W. 121st St.

Dot Griffin is now Mrs. Eugene Norris and has a lovely new home in Goldsboro. She has two little boys.

Ione Grogan is teaching in the Greensboro city schools.

Hulda Groome (Mrs. Frank McNinch), of 1160 Lorraine Ave., Plainfield, N. J., moved there on account of her husband's work. Mr. McNinch is with the Community Service, Inc., of New York City. Hulda has one little girl.

Ruth Groome (Mrs. G. L. Love) lives in Washington, D. C. She has a fourteen-months-old baby, but still finds time to write poetry. A popular magazine recently accepted one of her poems.

Merial Groves teaches in the high school in Rockingham, N. C.

Mildred Harrington teaches in the Oxford High School.

Florence Hildebrand is Mrs. Clarke Starbuck, of Winston-Salem, N. C.

Myrtle Horney (Mrs. R. P. Bradley) taught in the high school for four years and then married a "Scotland Necker". She has one boy, aged three and a half.

Vera Idol reports that she has married the finest doctor in the world (Dr. S. S. Coe). She has one little daughter who has many accomplishments, which modesty has forbid her mother's recital of, according to her own statement.

Florence Jeffress is home demonstration agent in Wilmington, N. C.

Nell Johnston (Mrs. E. Reid Toms) teaches in the Hemenway School in Wilmington, N. C.

Eva Jordan is Mrs. C. J. McFadden and lives in Washington, D. C.

Marianna Justice Hardison lives in Wadesboro, N. C. She has one little girl.

Rachel Lynch Simpson lives in Winston-Salem, at 810 Cloverdale Ave., in a new home. She has a seven-months-old daughter.

Margaret Mann married Dr. L. H. Swindell, and lives in Washington, N. C. She has one little son.

Corima Mial is teaching French in the high school at Greenville, N. C.

Florence Mitchell (Mrs. A. J. Saunders) lives in McAdenville, N. C. She has one little girl.

Hattie Motzno is doing stenographic work in Suffolk, Va., where she lives with her mother.

Ivey Paylor is teaching in Woodsdale, N. C., after having studied at Columbia last year.

Isabel Pierson was married in November to Mr. S. W. Dickens, of Enfield, N. C.

Alice Phelps is teaching sixth and seventh grades in Greenville, N. C.

Mary Porter (Mrs. Henry Mitchell) lives in Asheville, N. C. She has one little daughter.

Mildred Rankin (Mrs. H. S. Mackie) is living in her new home in Gastonia. She has one little boy.

Sadie Rice (Mrs. Howard Reid) is living in Columbia, S. C. She has one little son.

Katherine Robinson is a practicing attorney in the law firm of her father in Fayetteville, N. C.

Lizzie Roddick married Dr. M. T. Edgerton, and lives in Atlanta, Ga. She has one little son.

Pattie Spurgeon is teaching first grade in Morehead School in Durham, N. C.

Grace Stanford is Mrs. W. A. Lambertson, of Rich Square, N. C. She has a four-year-old daughter and a twenty-months-old son.

Sallie Sumner is teaching in Gastonia, N. C.

Gretchen Taylor is Mrs. Richard Hobbs, of Greensboro. She has a new son, about a month old.

Mary Tennent is assistant registrar at the College.

Carrie Tomer is dietitian at the James Walker Hospital, in Wilmington, N. C.

Annie Whitty is Mrs. E. J. Daniel, of Oxford, N. C.

Anna Williams is teaching in Greensboro, N. C., her home.

1914

*Willie May Stratford Shore, Secretary,
Charlotte, N. C.*

Louise Alexander is located in Charlotte with the Reliance Insurance Co., and is a number one insurance salesman.

Coline Austin Thies, Jr., lives at Davidson College, where Mr. Thies is a member of the faculty.

Effie Baynes is teaching in Salisbury, N. C.

Louise Bell is still teaching in New Bern.

Sallie Boddie is teaching home economics in Bahama, N. C.

Annie Bostian is teaching in Salisbury, N. C.

Marguerite Brooks (Mrs. N. S. Plummer) lives at 2904 Ardway, Washington, D. C. She, with her baby girl, visited in Greensboro last summer.

Maude Bunn Battle has a little daughter, Elizabeth Mershon, born January 29, 1922.

Bessie Craven (Mrs. S. R. Clinard) lives at R. 2, High Point, N. C.

Lolla Daughety is Mrs. C. S. Andrews, of 737 27th St., Newport News, Va.

Ruth S. Faison lives at her home in Faison, N. C.

Nina Garner teaches in Burlington, N. C. Laura Murphy Faison, who was in the government service during the late war, died last spring while on a visit to her home in Faison, N. C.

Ethie Garrett was married during the Christmas holidays to Dr. Frank Heine, of Greensboro, N. C.

Gladys Goodson (Mrs. Carl S. Gibson) lives at Cape, S. C.

Mary Green Matthews, of High Point, recently announced the arrival of little Shuford Matthews, Jr.

Pattie Groves is teaching in Durham, N. C.

Ruth Gunter is assistant superintendent of the Lee County schools, and lives at home in Sanford.

Elizabeth Hall teaches at her home, Belmont, N. C.

Ruth Hampton Shuping has recently moved into her new home on North McEiver Street.

Hallie Holloway teaches in Durham, N. C.

Iris Holt McEwen lives in Charlotte, N. C. She is corresponding secretary of the Charlotte Woman's Club.

Esther Horn Critz teaches in Salisbury, N. C.

Elsie House teaches in Marion. She, with her family, spent the past summer visiting their old home in England.

Lillian Hunt lives at Oxford, N. C.

Cora John (Mrs. C. H. Kirkman) lives at Pleasant Garden, N. C.

Clara L. Johnson teaches in the mill schools at Greensboro.

Louise Jones teaches at her home in Durham, N. C.

Audrey Kennette is at her home in Mooresville, N. C.

Susan Landon is spending the winter in Florida.

Ada Lentz teaches at Hallsboro, N. C. Edith Lineberger teaches in Belmont.

Mattie Lipe is Mrs. J. H. Marshburn, and lives near Bentonville, N. C.

Elizabeth Long is Mrs. Mac Jones, and lives in Texas.

Emma Lossen is teaching in Wilmington, N. C.

Belle Lupton is Mrs. W. B. Edwards and lives at Wilson, N. C.

Mattie McKinney was recently married to Mr. Jas. R. Ewing, of Rockingham, N. C.

Mary McQueen married Mr. S. H. McPherson, of Morven, N. C. She lives on a large farm, and has a little daughter, Elizabeth Wetmore, born on Washington's birthday.

Lila Melvin Rhyne lives at White Oak, N. C. Her husband is principal of the school there.

Fannie Starr Mitchell teaches in Gastonia, N. C.

Eliza Moore lives at home near Greenville, N. C.

Eleanor Morgan is teaching in Columbus, Miss.

Jeannette Musgrove is Mrs. H. V. Bounds, of Weldon, N. C.

Lillian Reeves Wyatt has moved with her family to Richmond, Va., where Mr. Wyatt has entered the Theological Seminary to study to become a minister.

Alice and Irene Robbins are teaching at home in Lenoir, N. C.

Fan Robertson is Mrs. Paul Stewart, of Fayetteville.

Annie V. Scott, M. D., writing from Huang Chin Kuan, China, says that she is very busy learning the Chinese language in the morning and teaching in medical college in the afternoon. She says no westerner can ever understand the Chinese people until he lives among them for at least a year, and she thinks that China will be very slow to become a republic, even though of a very democratic turn. She has noted that her students' weakest point is in their ability to reason, this doubtless being due to the fact that for four centuries Chinese education has consisted of memory work. She remarks hopefully, however, that their zeal for study surpasses that of any student body she has ever known, and that they do wonderful work among their own people when trained for it.

Sarah Perrin Shuford lives at 221 Drummond Place, Norfolk, Va.

Margaret Smith is Mrs. J. W. Davis, of Edenton, N. C.

Margaret Sparger is teaching in Ashboro, N. C.

Bertha Stanbury Scott lives in Jefferson, N. C., where Mr. Scott is superintendent of schools.

Willie May Stratford (Mrs. W. T. Shore, Jr.) lives in Charlotte. She has one baby son, William.

Pearl Terry teaches in Sanford, N. C. Bessie Terry is at home in Rockingham, N. C. She is not teaching this year.

Winifred Turlington is Mrs. Ernest Smith, of Fayetteville, N. C.

Nota Wagstaff is Mrs. J. N. Highsmith, of Atkinston, N. C.

Agnes Warren lives at her home in Dunn, N. C.

Anne Watkins is county supervisor of Richmond County, living at Rockingham.

Clara Whitely is Mrs. Edgar Hales, of Lucama, N. C.

Pauline White is still in government service at Washington, D. C.

Emma Wilson is Mrs. E. W. Norwood, of Goldsboro, N. C.

Annie May Woodside teaches at Southport, N. C.

Mamie Holloway teaches in Durham, N. C.

1918

*Sue Ramsey Johnston, Secretary,
Gastonia, N. C.*

AN INVITATION TO ALL GREEN AND WHITE CLASSES.

In every family there is always someone who plans for and wants family reunions. 1918 wants to ask all other members of the family of the "Green and Whites" to meet with her at the old home place, North Carolina College for Women, at commencement time. It is going to be an ideal time for a full reunion. Each one of us has heard of the many changes that have taken place, and we are anxious to see them. We also want to learn to know our young daughters, the Class of 1922.

Instead of sending in individual news items to the Alumnae News, 1918 wishes to hereby issue a call to all other Green and White classes to join in a reunion. We ask all officers and members of every Green and White Class to unite in making our family reunion a success.

With hopes of seeing all of our Green and White family at commencement, we are, The Class of 1918.

1921

*Flossie Foster, Secretary,
Wilson, N. C.*

The Class of 1921 sends greetings, from many different places, to their sister classes which have gone before. A list of this class appeared in the last issue of the News, denoting the places in which they are teaching. The following changes should be made, however:

Ruth Allison, Webster, N. C.

Amy Graham, La Grange, N. C.

Eunice McAdams, Wilmington, N. C.

Sadie Moyle, Salisbury, N. C.

Reid Parker, Winterville, N. C.

Edna Evans, Red Oak, N. C.

Gladys Newman, Tyrer, N. C.

Lula Rankin, Rosemary, N. C.

Elizabeth O. Smith, Rosemary, N. C.

This class enjoys the distinction of having put into operation the Class Connection Fund. We are glad to report that out of a class of eighty-one, only a few have not sent in their first payment on the Alumnae Home Fund.

Last year the class took charge of the telephone work, and the money made from this, two-hundred and fifty dollars, was also most generously given to the Alumnae Home Fund. We wish to welcome most heartily this class to our ranks, and to congratulate them on the splendid college spirit which they have shown.

Reports from other classes will appear in next number

JOS. J. STONE & CO.

Printers
Binders

GREENSBORO, N. C.

The Greensboro National Bank

"The Old Reliable"
OF GREENSBORO, N. C.

Solicits your account, no matter how small or how large. Glad to give you any banking accommodation in our power.

Corner Elm and Washington Streets

To Out-of-Town Alumnae:

If you want anything in the Stationery Line, write

Wills Book and Stationery Co.
GREENSBORO, N. C.

NO ORDERS TOO SMALL

W. Perry Reaver, M. D.

H. J. Lamont, D. D. S.

REAVES' INFIRMARY
EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT

OFFICE AND INFIRMARY
REAVES' BUILDING

W. SYCAMORE STREET

'PHONE 30

GREENSBORO, N. C.

The North Carolina College for Women

Culture Scholarship Service Self-Support

Offers to Women a Liberal Education, Equipment for Womanly Service,
Professional Training for Remunerative Employment

Three well-planned courses leading to degrees in Arts, Science and Music.

Special courses in Education; in Domestic Science, Household Art and Economics; in Music; and in the Commercial Branches.

Teachers and Graduates of other colleges provided for in both regular and special courses.

Equipment modern, including furnished dormitories, library, laboratories, literary society halls, gymnasium, music rooms, teachers' training school, infirmary, model laundry, central heating plant, and open air recreation grounds.

Dormitories furnished by the State. Board at actual cost. Expenses—board, laundry, tuition—$305.00 a year. Tuition free to those who pledge themselves to become teachers.

Fall Term Opens in September

Summer Term Begins in June

For catalogue and other information, address
JULIUS I. FOUST, President, Greensboro, N. C.

Ellis Stone & Co

"Greensboro's Best Store"

Ready-to-Wear, Dry Goods,
Shoes, Millinery

ODELL'S, Incorporated

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Athletic Goods, Sweaters, China,
Cut Glass and Toys

GREENSBORO, N. C.

Meyer's
DEPARTMENT STORE GREENSBORO, N. C.

Greensboro's Largest and Best Woman's Store

COMPLIMENTS OF American Exchange National Bank

Capital and Surplus $750,000.00

R. G. Vaughn, President
F. C. Boyles, Cashier
E. H. Nicholson, Asst. Cashier
I. F. Peebles, Asst. Cashier
W. H. Spradlin, Jr., Asst. Cashier

CONFIDENCE

For twelve years the name "Dobson-Sills" on Boots and Slippers has meant the best Footwear.

Each season we create New Fashions and today we have one of the best equipped shoe stores in the South.

You will find here Footwear of unusual beauty and tested worth.
Your patronage is appreciated.

Dobson-Sills
SHOES — HOSIERY, TOO
GREENSBORO — WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.

What Have You Done Since You Left School?

Have you been a success? Have you accomplished those ideals which the vision of the scholar sees as practical? If you aren't satisfied with yourself, have you tried to analyze and find the real reason for lack of contentment and success?

Ten chances to one it lies in lack of money.

Have you saved consistently as you should?

The Atlantic Bank and Trust Company welcomes the accounts of all who realize the VALUE OF THE DOLLAR. We pay 4% interest compounded QUARTERLY and assure the safety of your money.

Atlantic Bank and Trust Company

Greensboro, North Carolina

Capital - - $1,000,000.00

Surplus - - $360,000.00